

A Poem

The World, sent in by Olga Wood

I wonder if you ever think of the world in all its wonder The rain, the fog, the ice and snow
The lightning and the thunder.

The flowers that grow and the birds that fly
The insects, and the bees
The lakes, the valleys and the hills
The blossom forming trees.

God made the world for all to see the magic of his powers
The sun, the moon and all the stars
The rain, the wind, the showers

He made the peoples of the world in multi coloured skins He taught us all the rights and wrongs
Forgave us all our sins.

He gave us all so many gifts
The land, the sea the sky
The power of speech and also sight
The means to laugh and cry

What have we made of all his gifts
With all our hate and greed We've ruined everything we've touched
With most alarming speed.

I Hope that he may still forgive this world hell bent on sin And give us all just one more chance
To make it clean again.

Shame on Them

Anyone who knows anything about the Silloth on Solway Charity Shop will realise that it is run by volunteers, purely to raise money for local organisations. Almost every sports club and other organisation in this area has reason to be grateful to the team of volunteers at S.O.S.C.S.

You therefore have to wonder about the mentality of whoever decided it made sense to steal the ramp for disabled access to the shop.

Not only have they attacked the disabled, they have also attacked every organisation trying to do good as money which could have been donated is going to have to be used to have another ramp made.

We do not need these hooligans in this area.

If you know who they are – do something about it, or you should hang your head in shame also!

It's a fact!

During the rugby game Silloth v. Gosforth Greengarth last season there was a double substitution during the second half, when a father and son came on the field. They were club stalwart and long serving player Donald Pape and his son Stephen.

Also in the squad are four pairs of brothers Kein & Sean Clorley Darren & Kevin Irwin Mark & Ryan Orchard Stuart & Greg Hoodless Skipper Darren Irwin plus front row forward Willy Collins are brother-in-laws.
